Dear Jim,

As you know, you have always worked on my projects that have some degree of difficulty. Schedules, budgets, unique details, all need to be addressed with care and good humor. You and Centennial Construction have always been up to those challenges and performed them with grace. Your ease in communicating with me, designers and my clients have resulted in my recommending you again and again for my projects. You have consistently addressed any concerns of my clients and myself as the work progresses and never left any details in question unresolved.

I will continue to mention you to my clients in the future as you have always contributed to an outstanding result.

Looking forward to your continued success.
