Dear Jim:

Now that our first major construction project is successfully behind us, it is time to thank you for insuring that everything went smoothly. I am most grateful to Lynne Holden, designer, and Steven Glickman, architect, for recommending you to ProJeCt of Easton, Inc.

As you are fully aware, ProJeCt paid for the permanent improvements to St. John's Lutheran Church, so you had the challenge of satisfying two entities. Thank you for understanding the nuances of the relationship of ProJeCt to St. John's, and for the professional manner in which you and your workmen conducted themselves.

As a non-profit organization, especially in these difficult economic times, I appreciate the consideration you gave to cutting costs when you could. The quality of the workmanship is excellent and the end result is a beautiful early childhood learning center for some of our community's neediest families. I hope you are as proud of the learning center as we are.

It was a pleasure to work with you. You responded to my questions and requests in a timely way, keeping the project timeline as close as the weather permitted, including the supreme sacrifice of giving up weekends at the shore to meet our deadline. It is without reservation that I offer my highest recommendation to anyone considering Centennial Construction or Jim O'Dowd.

Sincerely,

Margaret O. Magee
